Powerpoint to pdf no compression.

When you need to create an interesting and engaging presentation for your head, new customers or a job interview, you have a lot of options for tools to get the job. Also, even if it is the industry standard, you don't need your Microsoft PowerPoint and many people claim that there are only better tools for work anyway. This week we will see five of the best of those alternative presentation tools, based on your nominations. At the beginning of the week, we asked you what favorite applications use to make slideshows and presentations when PowerPoint was not an option. You definitely answered, some of you who are passionately notice that your favorite was better than PowerPoint anyway. We cannot highlight all the candidates, but here are the first five. Create dazzling presentations for customers, work meetings or even work interviews is no morethe survey is closed and the votes are counted. To see which alternative PowerPoint you think it's the best, go to our weekly alveario five follow-up posts to check the winner! Create a presentation or an interesting, informative and elegant presentation for a business meeting, for a company meeting (Mac: $ 19.99) Keynote of Apple can be purchased as a stand-alone product, or as part of the iWork productivity suite of Apple and is probably one of the most intuitive presentation applications, easy to use and heavy-heavy I've ever used. Many of you thought the same, and stressed that it is very easy to create good-looking presentations with Keynote without going out time by digging through the menus or looking for models that were not used to death from all the others. Keynote has excellent built-in graphic tools to edit and edit images entering presentations, easily support videos and movies on slides or as part of your presentation, it has no hokey animations, supports PowerPoint documents if you need spices of someone else's presentation, and also allows you to check your presentation from your iOS device or project the presentation via the video out and watch your notes and the next slides on your Mac.Google Docs display (Web: free) Google Docs presentation form for Be quite ruthless, but they recently updated it to make it more compatible with the people who come from Microsoft Office, or people who want a more robust presentation tool. Google Docs offers a wide range of models and presentation creation tools that are easy to skip and start, animations and slide transitions to make your presentation interesting to watch, and also the collaborative presentation that modifies with other people in your team. You could lose some heavier features like the video embedded in your slides (even if you can incorporate YouTube or other web videos), if you don't need bells and whistles of an application of a more constant application and just want a quick way and free to create good by looking at presentations on any system, this is it.google Docs rolled a new version of its presentation tool with over 50 new features, À € Å,~ | À € Å,~ | Read MoreBeamer (Latex) (Windows / Mac / Linux: free) If you are at FAN OF LATEX, or simply remember to have it to apply it for your graduate thesis, you will adore the Beamer. Where other presentation tools offer you a GUI in which you drag yourself into elements you want to use as images and videos and then tweak text boxes to include the information you want on the screen, Beamer requires you to build your presentation in a markup language Custom that works virtually any latex document. Self looking fast and easy to use, this is not true, but if you have already familiar with the latex and you used it in the past (it is extremely popular in academia and technical people who would prefer to write their presentations and the modification of each Possible feature rather than giving control to a GUI), then it offers a granular level of control according to which other tools do not provide. Price (Web / Win / Mac / Linux / iOS: Free, $ 59 / year "Have fun," $ 159 / YR PRO) Prezi takes presentations in a different direction than static slides on a screen screen Projector with text on them. Even the animations and transitions available in other pale presentation applications compared to the premiere unit "Zooming of the user interface", which moves entire slides and focuses strongly on images, graphics and movement to attract attention On the text. To some it is all too overwhelming and distracting from the main message of the presentation, and some have called the showed unprofessional presentation models, but many others noted that the tools of prezì make it easy to create presentations that are really interesting and a world Apart from the opaque slideshow we are all used to. You can create an account for free and start creating presentations on the web, up to a storage limit from 100 MB. If you need more space, $ 59 / year takes you a "Prezi Enjoy" account, 500 MB and the ability to make your presentations private and remove the Pressure watermark. $ 159 / year will take you a PRO account, which accompanies you up to 2 GB of storage and access to the Prezi desktop, an Adobe AIR app that allows you to work on your presentations outside of a browser.GreenOffice / OpenOffice.org Impression (Windows / Mac / Linux: free) without being too deep in the division between LibreOffice and OpenOffice.org, Impress is the presentation manufacturer for both the productivity suites. When LibreOffice scishes like a fork of OpenOffice.org, it has made us impress, and now both platforms essentially use the same tool for presentations and presentations. Both version support PowerPoint presentations and offer a user-friendly drag-and-drop user interface to build new presentations that you have familiar with if you have used one of the other tools listed here. In fact, stare mostly corresponds to PowerPoint in terms of user interface and layout of any of the tools here, but extends its DRAEWING and graphic functionality a little. Now that you've seen the first five, it's time to put them all to a vote and decide the winner. Mentions Mentions Mentions this week go to Sliderocket, which has entered with only a few timid nominations to create the first five, and the previously mentioned bunch.js.Bas. How to various PowerPoint ... Read your favorite does not receive quite nominations to make the first five? Have something to say about one of the contenders we've lost? Remember, Hive Five contenders are based on your nominations in the call for the contenders thread from previous week. Let's listen to it in comments below.
