

Merekam game di android

☐

I'm not robot

reCAPTCHA

Continue

Cara merekam game di android. Cara merekam game di android dengan suara internal. Aplikasi yang bisa merekam game di android. Cara merekam video saat bermain game di android.

Take Android Games without applying a screen recording device? You can do it? The answer is definitely possible. But I hope my friends read well. I mean the post without downloading the screen recorder application and without the root. In this case, we use the Google app. No one will miss it before reading my record. What do you take on the Android screen? For some people, they may not play a role, but for those who want to organize a game moment or announce these moments on YouTube. This will surely happen when the game is preserved. So then there are no questions I explain here. You should read some important things about recording your Android screens without this application, the information below. Before explaining here, some things, the Android operating system and the interface used by your smartphone, a friend you use. I recommend using your Android phone with the 5.0 version of Lollipop and higher as the operating system. In the interface (interface), make sure the device uses the latest version of the interface. And the last is the use of the app, because in this case we use Google app, namely the Google Play game and Youtube game. Now we are starting to record a screen candy game with both programs. Download Google Play Game and YouTube Game program from Play Store if you don't already have it. Call Google Play app to save games using Google Play Games. This is a standard app that your Android smartphone definitely has this app. Perhaps it needs to be updated as this app is usually rarely updated by Green Robot smartphone users. Enter my game and select one of the games. Then you see a round red symbol and symbol. The Red Round symbol is the ability to save the game you choose. After all, all you have to do is choose the recording quality and start recording by playing the game you choose. After performing the steps above, this means that you have entered the game, a friend you have previously chosen. Simply determine the display of the functions you have received. You can't pick up your face (face) or want to pick up the sound by clicking on the camera symbol just click on the microphone symbol. IfFo record Android games without using a screen recording program? You can do it? The answer is, of course, possible. But I hope my friends read well. I mean the post here without loading the screen recording program and without the root. In this case, we will use the Google app. Before you start reading, write not to jump so that no one will miss later. What do you write on the Android screen? For some people, it may not be important, but for those who want to capture the game time or want to download these moments on YouTube. This will surely happen if the game is recorded. Well, after that there are no questions I actually explained here. When observing this information, you need to read some important things about the Android screen recording device without this application. Before you start explaining here, some things to consider are the Android smartphone operating system you use and the interface used by your smartphone is my friend. I, as OS, recommend using your Android phone with Lollipop 5.0 and Hours. When it comes to interface (Interface), make sure the device uses the latest version of the interface. And the latter is a version of your application, as in this case we will use Google apps, that is, Google Play Game and YouTube games. Now we will start recording a screen playing or Android with both applications. If you don't already have it, download the Google Play Game and YouTube Game program at Play Store. Insert a game from Google Play program to record games using Google Play Games. This is the default app, probably on your Android smartphone. Perhaps it should be updated only because this app is usually updated by Green Robot smartphones. Enter my game and select one of the games. You will then see the red round icon and restore the icon. The Red Round icon is the option to record the game you choose. Finally, all you need to do is choose the quality of the record and start typing the game you choose. After performing previous steps, this means that you have entered the game you previously chose, my friend. Just set the features displayed. You can't record your face (face) by clicking the camera icon or you don't want to record the sound, just click the microphone icon. Myself already understand the first method, I will continue the second method. How to record games on Android using YouTube games a few months ago on YouTube launched YouTube, because many game enthusiasts searched for videos from YouTube games. That is why YouTube separates the contents of the game from YouTube games so that game enthusiasts can easily find their favorite games for games in one place, namely YouTube games. YouTube Gaming supports Android users, adding streaming functions, especially users can play live broadcast games so that YouTube users can watch them live. This application also has the ability to play without streaming. This means that users can continue to send games without regulating them on YouTube. Check this method. Make sure that the YouTube game application is installed and open it. At the top you can see the up arrow icon and signal. This is a live or recording icon. Click the icon to go to the Subscribe. There are two options, namely streaming and recording, as well as video quality choices. Select Load to enter the next option, which is to choose the game or application you want to load. You can choose the right quality of the record. Then run the selected game/application. Click the round icon at the top of the screen to start recording. After playing, you can return or stop recording by clicking the suspension icon. After completing the screen recording process, you will usually be immediately redirected to the YouTube application, in which you can start recording the above movie. If you do not want to send directly to YouTube, or maybe you want to edit before sending. Click again, ignore the warning that appears after clicking the rejection. You can then find a recorded video at the video folders gallery. If you can't find it, open a file manager, find a movie folder and enter the Screencast folder. If it is not clear with my explanation here. Watch the video tutorial below. So information 2 ways to record Android games without this screen recorder. If this information article seems useful to you. I am sure that you do not oppose sharing this article on social media by clicking one of the multimedia iconsBelow this article. who has a question Write in the comments. There are many ways to record games and create video content for Android, but the most suitable way to use it will really depend on the version of Android, which is the functionality of your device. Android KitKat has no official feature to record Android devices before version 4.4, so people usually put the camera in front of Android. But now there are much more modern ways and one of them is to use Screen-Recorder application. How to record Android games to create the best video content for this app's screen recorder. For those using Android version 5.0 Lollipop or High, some of the best apps you can use to record games: 1. Google Play Game, Android version 5.0 and above, Google Play Games app is installed on Android completely automatically because this app is the default device. However, this free app from Google LLC can only be used to record games within the app. So Google Play is actually the default Google app for any Android device that has a screen recording agent. In other words, to make a game, you have to play games in the app. Some demos presented by this app are Snake, Pac-Man, Solitaire and Cricket. Although it covers the old school, you can play offline even when playing in this app, so you don't have to be connected to the internet all the time. The way to save games in this app is: Find and open the Google Play Games app. Select the "My Game (My Game)" menu. Select one of the games you want to play, but before you start, click the round button to let the app start recording. Don't forget to select the recording quality. When finished, a "Round button" will appear and the recording process will stop. The results of this recording are automatically saved directly to the Gallery of your Android device.mika and start talking. 2. AZ Screen Recorder AZ Screen Recorder is one of the most used screen recording apps among Android users nowadays. The developer claims that this app can provide high quality and stable recordings in 30FPS and 60FPS options. Another plus is that there is no recording time limit, so you can record for a very long time. Android also does not require root. In addition, AZ Screen Recorder has many useful functions that can make it easy for you to record Android games, create video tutorials, maybe even capture video call moments, such as screen video recording, screen capture, live screen video editor. from life etc. If you want to try it, you can download the application from here and start using it for free. However, in-app purchases are also available from IDR 19,279 to IDR 139,000 per item. Recording games on Android to create video content with this app is basically the same as using Google Play Games before, just open the app and go to the "Video & Settings" menu. Choose the recording quality between 30FPS and 60FPS. If you want to record audio, slide the button next to the words "Record Audio". Now select the game you want to play. When you're ready to get started, tap the screen record button, which is usually round or looks like a camera image with "Record" written on it. 3. Mobizen Screen Recorder Another app that got lots of good reviews on Google Play is Mobizen Screen Recorder from developer Mobizen. While it may not get 4.5 stars like AZ Screen Recorder, this app gets 4.3 stars with many positive reviews. According to a number of reviews available, this app is easy to use and has some very useful cool features like Facecam feature, video editing feature, in and out video, unlimited time recording feature, clear FULL HD screen recording and no watermark. Overall, this app is pretty reliable and offers a free version, but in-app purchases range from IDR 11,000 to IDR 690,000 per unit. You can directly experience the complexity of this app by downloading it here. The steps to use are as follows: Once installed, open the application and tick the small box in the "terms and conditions" or "privacy policy" section.When you open this app for the first time. Then click "Next". Since you are a new user, now you must first create an account by entering an email address and creating a password in the created column. Now open the email and open the input field and verify the account registration by clicking on the link previously sent by the application. After successful registration, enter your account with a username in the form of an email address and enter the created password. If the application is open and in the home section, the name of each function will automatically appear in this application during its use, including the screen recorder function. 4. Video recording screen without root. As the name suggests, this app can be used to record Android screens for a variety of purposes, from recording games, tutorials, advertising some apps, and even spying on someone using a cell phone without permission. The app developed with IsMeterCodes works well on Android 4.4 and newer devices, but older versions may require administrator rights due to operating system limitations. Another advantage is that this application has a high frame rate that can be adjusted up to 24 frames per second, which can help you create professional HD movies. The restore option also helps you to edit the video if needed, it already comes with a default control module, the timers can be adjusted and there is no watermark. Antaramuka This app is very friendly so you can easily work and start recording games even when you open the app for the first time. Game recording using this application is similar to the previous method, just find and click the screen recording function. If playing games is one of the coolest activities for you and you start recording the moment of the game and even send it to social networks, you can try to record Android games and create video content using one of the above. Options. See also ::